

AVERTS COAL MINE STRIKE

Secretary Wilson Solves the Troubles of Birmingham
Miners

RECEDE VIRTUALLY
ON ALL DEMANDS

Samuel Gompers Names
Berres on Marine
Board

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 29.—The miners' strike in the Birmingham district has been averted through the efforts of Secretary Wilson. Virtually all of the demands made by the union, including recognition, have been postponed indefinitely. The demands from which the miners receded include not only recognition of the union, but the eight-hour day, the "closed shop" and reopening of the wage scale.

The operators agreed to the employment of men regardless of whether they are union members and to make no discrimination against union men. Each operator also agreed to the formation of an employees' grievance committee which can present complaints every three months. The miners accepted Secretary Wilson's suggestions at once and the operators agreed to ratify them not later than Sept. 4. Secretary Wilson has been here several days conferring with both sides. Nearly 25,000 miners were involved in the threatened strike.

GOMPERS SELECTS BERRES

Secretary of Metal Trades Department of American Federation of Labor.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The American Federation of Labor has named Alfred J. Berres, secretary of its metal trades department, as its representative on a commission of three, created recently by President Wilson to handle the labor situation in shipbuilding yards. V. Everitt Macy of New York is chairman of the commission. The shipping board is yet to name a member.

WOMEN TO ABBREVIATE COSTUMES STILL MORE

Gowns With One Sleeve Are Now Proposed
By Fashion Art League of America.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—American women of fashion mustn't mind if they do shiver a little this winter, so long as our soldiers are kept warm, says the Fashion Art League of America, which is holding a convention here at the Auditorium hotel.

"War has tamed Dame Fashion," said Mme. Marguerite at the opening. "Wool must be conserved. Our soldiers must have warm clothes, so our women must be content with just about half the amount of cloth in their attire. Their coats are to be shorter, skirts narrower, lapsels to be only lines and not a patch pocket will be seen. The lines are almost severe."

Even greater abbreviations will be made in evening attire, Mme. Marguerite said, and gowns with one sleeve will be fashionable.

WILL SET PRICE FOR COPPER

War Industrial Board to Take Action
Within a Few Days.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The price of copper required for war use will be fixed by the war industries board probably within a week or ten days. At the office of the board it was suggested yesterday the price would be between 20 and 22 1/2 cents a pound.

The government's policy respecting the cost of copper and similar metals will be to allow liberal prices to stimulate production. Unless good prices are given it will be difficult, it is held, to induce capital to invest in new properties and the country will soon face a shortage of the metals.

Eugene Meyer, jr., of New York was named yesterday a special assistant to Bernard M. Baruch of the war industries board, in charge of copper purchases.

Don't Hoard Your Food.

The September Woman's Home Companion says: "In times of need it is natural to hoard. This is a primitive instinct. Many animals hoard food for the winter, and usually it is when their food is plentiful, 'tasty in excess of their needs.' It may indeed be said to be the general rule that, if unlimited food supplies are available, animals that hoard will do so in excess of the needs of the season."

"This is also true of human beings. Then they learned they hoard unwisely and in excess of their needs, and the result is the same as in the case of animals. Food is not hoarded through decomposition. From the standpoint of the economy of the purchaser this is the first reason against hoarding."

"The second reason against hoarding is that of driving up all the prices. No matter whether the demand is natural or artificial, the result upon the price is the same. The act of hoarding, therefore, is a social crime in that it drives up the price of living for the individuals who do not hoard, and to the profit of no one."

The Reply Forwarded.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The reply by the United States government to Pope Benedict's peace proposals has gone forward. It is understood that it will be transmitted through the British foreign office, through which the pope's communication came.

CATHOLICS ACCLAIM POPE'S PEACE PROPOSAL

But Pledge All Catholics of This Country to War Programme of the United States.

Kansas City, Aug. 29.—Resolutions "acclaiming" the peace proposal of Pope Benedict and pledging all Catholics of this country to the war program of the United States, but containing no clause urging acceptance of the suggestions, were reported favorably here yesterday by the resolutions committee of the American Federation of Catholic Societies.

They were to be presented to the annual convention later in the day, with the belief of leaders that they would be adopted.

The loyalty resolution declares that "in accordance with the unbroken tradition of loyalty for the foundations of this republic," we solemnly affirm our inalienable attachment to the principles of the American government and we pledge without reservation our blood and our treasures for the defense and perpetuation of our beloved country."

The pope's proposal was spoken of as follows: "We reverently and joyfully acclaim the action of our most holy father, Benedict XV, in his proposal of a basis for the negotiation of peace between the warring nations and we mark with pardonable pride the accord between the articles of agreement offered by the supreme pontiff and the tentative suggestions formerly made by the president of the United States."

The committee which drew up the document was headed by the Right Rev. Joseph Schrembs of Toledo, O. It contained clerical and lay members from all sections of the United States.

Sporting Notes.

Although St. Louis outfit Philadelphia in Monday's engagement between the two teams by 12 to 9 hits, Philadelphia was credited with the game by the tally of 6 to 4. Hornsby led the batting attack of the St. Louis team with four hits, including a double, to his credit out of four times at bat.

Manager Barry announced yesterday that Sam Jones, who came to Boston from Cleveland in the Speaker deal, had been accepted and would be notified to report for duty as a member of the national army Sept. 15.

Washington won a peculiar game from Cleveland Monday, when each team drove three pitchers out of the box, the game taking three hours and ten minutes to be played, the first five innings taking two hours and ten minutes. Gallia struck out the entire side in the second, while Shaw turned the same trick in the fourth inning.

Members of the St. Louis American league team have been declared the winners in the competitive military drill. Lieut. Col. Raymond Sheldon, U. S. A., who reviewed the clubs, announced his decision recently. The team will be presented $500, which is offered by President Johnson of the American league. Second place was awarded to the Washington team, third to Cleveland, Chicago fourth, Boston fifth, Detroit sixth, New York seventh and Philadelphia eighth. The competition was judged according to military standards. St. Louis players were perfect in variety of movements and punctuality and were penalized only one point for discipline and six points in drilling.

Cobb and Burns of the Detroit team did their part in winning Monday's encounter with Boston, as the former had three singles out of four times at bat, while the latter had a triple and a double to his credit out of as many trips to the plate.

New Haven clinched the pennant in the Eastern league by winning a double-header from Worcester recently. The league winners have had things their way all through the season, although they finished in sixth position last year in a 10-club league.

Committee

KITCHIN PUTS BUDGET
AT $21,000,000,000

Estimates This Stupendous
Sum Is Needed to Pay
Bills for the Year

Washington, Aug. 29.—Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department was closeted with the ways and means committee of the House yesterday, explaining his plan for the issue of $11,338,945,460 in bonds and treasury certificates to meet war expenses and loans to allies. He urged action as speedily as possible, though there is evidence that some of his propositions, especially the interest and surtax provisions, will meet strenuous opposition. House Leader Kitchin figures that the expenses to the end of June, 1918, for war purposes, will aggregate $19,000,000,000 and naively sees the need of a couple billion more to go and come on. In the Senate after discussing the postage feature of the war revenue bill a bit, while the leaders are trying to reach an understanding as to tax on war profits and incomes, a vote was taken on the proposition to add one cent to the postage rate on letters and postcards. This would make the letter rate three cents and that for post cards two cents. The proposition was eliminated by a vote of 39 to 29. The extreme radicals, represented by La Follette of Wisconsin and Johnson of California, have introduced amendments calculated to take as high as 80 per cent of the large incomes. Cloture has been abandoned for the present, though 50 senators have signed an undated request for its employment. Senate leaders say it will be invoked only as an antidote for filibuster.

The speaker dwelt interestingly upon some phases of the cemetery laws in Vermont, referring to the law which orders the money from the sale of burial lots to be kept separate from general funds. In 1882 the legislature authorized towns to receive and hold money in trust for the perpetual care of private burial lots. Not until 1912 were the probate courts authorized to set aside an amount not to exceed $200 from the funds of an estate for perpetual care. Judge Martin stated that Vermont was not alone among the states which have been backward in caring for cemeteries and expressed his belief that sentiment which is being created for the better care of burial grounds will have a wholesome effect. In closing the speaker felicitated the association on the excellent work it has in hand.

ed as a mere repository for the dead. Rather, it is a place of beauty, where architecture and building skill and landscape gardening go hand in hand with nature for the achievement of art. Memorial advertising is designed for your good as well as the good of the dealer, manufacturer and quarry. It is a mutual proposition, through and through, and my hope is that you may appreciate it as such and work with it as far as lies within your power.

Probate and Cemetery.

Probate courts of America were born of the ecclesiastical courts of England, said Judge Martin in opening his address on "Relations of the Probate Court to the Cemetery Superintendent." Continuing, he outlined the duties of the probate court officers, which consist primarily of distributing the property of the deceased among the living, and that in accordance with the law of the state in which his property is situated. From 1777 to 1854 burial grounds in Vermont were permitted to be used as common pasturage. In the latter year the legislature fixed a penalty for persons who knowingly allowed their cattle, etc., to trespass on sacred ground. In 1863 burial lots were exempted from attachment, and 13 years later monuments were exempted from attachment, and the laying of highways and railroads through cemeteries was forbidden.

Trip to Lake Champlain.

This morning, despite the threatening weather, the superintendents' party got a seasonable start on its Burlington trip. Hotel Barre was a rallying point for the excursionists and before 8 o'clock a majority of them had gathered there in anticipation of the ride. Transportation details were handled expeditiously by a committee consisting of James N. Gall and Alderman A. A. Milne and J. A. Healy. Around 65 automobiles, loaned by citizens of Barre, were required to accommodate the visitors and an automobile was started at the end of every interval of two minutes. While the heavy rain of the morning may have slightly dampened the ardor of the superintendents, they were disposed to look on the brighter side of the situation and it was not an uncommon thing to hear an optimistic "super" after scanning the horizon, remark that "the rain had surely laid the dust."

The way lay through the Winooski valley and the travelers were to be permitted a view of the military encampment at Fort Ethan Allen before swinging into Burlington to take the boat for a ride on Lake Champlain. When the travelers disembark late this afternoon they will be taken to the Sherwood hotel for dinner before setting out for Barre.

The narrow view of allied commercial interests has done much to retard the development of the ideal cemetery, but broader views are considered now. He speaks of the support accorded him by the public in Cleveland, and says: "We have been fortunate in that a spirit of co-operation and civic pride has supported and will continue to support the cemetery work, and we have found strong men willing to devote their time and energy to it."

"As eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, we cemetery men must never forget that 'eternal vigilance' and eternal hard work is the price of the ideal cemetery."

The reception at Hotel Barre brought together a very large assembly of women, and from 7 o'clock until 10 the light side of the cemetery superintendent's existence and that of his family was brought into relief. Carroll's orchestra played during the evening, and while there was nothing of formality about the gathering, the visitors and hostesses were made to know each other. A delightful musical program included numbers by the orchestra and solos by Mrs. W. M. Holden and James Bennett. Each vocalist was compelled to respond for an encore. George H. Wilder of Burlington played the accompaniments in his usual happy manner.

During the festivities a number of women served refreshments of punch and wafers.

Reception to the Ladies.

The reception at Hotel Barre brought together a very large assembly of women, and from 7 o'clock until 10 the light side of the cemetery superintendent's existence and that of his family was brought into relief. Carroll's orchestra played during the evening, and while there was nothing of formality about the gathering, the visitors and hostesses were made to know each other. A delightful musical program included numbers by the orchestra and solos by Mrs. W. M. Holden and James Bennett. Each vocalist was compelled to respond for an encore. George H. Wilder of Burlington played the accompaniments in his usual happy manner.

During the festivities a number of women served refreshments of punch and wafers.

Trip to Lake Champlain.

This morning, despite the threatening weather, the superintendents' party got a seasonable start on its Burlington trip. Hotel Barre was a rallying point for the excursionists and before 8 o'clock a majority of them had gathered there in anticipation of the ride. Transportation details were handled expeditiously by a committee consisting of James N. Gall and Alderman A. A. Milne and J. A. Healy. Around 65 automobiles, loaned by citizens of Barre, were required to accommodate the visitors and an automobile was started at the end of every interval of two minutes. While the heavy rain of the morning may have slightly dampened the ardor of the superintendents, they were disposed to look on the brighter side of the situation and it was not an uncommon thing to hear an optimistic "super" after scanning the horizon, remark that "the rain had surely laid the dust."

The way lay through the Winooski valley and the travelers were to be permitted a view of the military encampment at Fort Ethan Allen before swinging into Burlington to take the boat for a ride on Lake Champlain. When the travelers disembark late this afternoon they will be taken to the Sherwood hotel for dinner before setting out for Barre.
